

POLICE ARE PUPPETS

They throw their weight around wherever they can, but when it comes down to it they're just peons who answer to the ones with wealth and political power. Their job is to enforce inequalities: to keep some of us on the street while others live in penthouses. The problem isn't just cops, but the whole system they impose.